

Back to the drawing board

Six years ago, The National printed an Abu Dhabi style version of the popular board game, Monopoly. Since then, there have been so many new developments in the capital, including The Galleria, Yas Waterworld and Jumeirah at Etihad Towers. So at a time when giant UAE versions of the game have been set up in three shopping malls in Dubai, and in the same year it celebrates its 80th anniversary, we've decided to see how an updated version would look
